STOCKHOLM, MAY 31ST 2017

NORDEA OFFERS TUNDRA'S FUNDS

Tundra Fonder has entered into a distribution agreement with Nordea. Tundra's entire range of funds will be available to Nordea's customers when the bank launches its new savings platform in Sweden.

Tundra Fonder, the fund management company specialising in the new emerging markets, known as frontier markets, continues to grow and expand its number of distributors to now also include Nordea. Once Nordea's new savings platform becomes available in Sweden, the bank's customers will be able to easily trade Tundra's entire range of frontier market funds.

"We are delighted that Nordea has selected Tundra as one of its partners. We are seeing increasing interest in our products in both the institutional segment and among advisors and private clients," says Tundra's CEO Jon Scheiber.

Tundra, which was founded in 2011, has rapidly gained a position as a leading fund manager in frontier markets, and has had local presence for a number of years in the form of research offices in Asia. The fund management company's products are already available on a number of platforms in Sweden, as well as in other countries including Norway, Finland, Switzerland and Canada.

"Highly competitive returns, combined with our focus on sustainable investments, have attracted attention among clients and have helped to expand the level of interest," says Jon Scheiber.

The Tundra Pakistan Fund has delivered the second-highest return over the past five years among the 2,070 Morningstar equity funds available in Sweden.
